Smith Wins On 'Impulse'

Charles F. Smith of the General Petroleum Refinery was judged the best speaker of the evening at the Toastmasters' club recently.

Smith, whose speech title was "Obey that Impulse," stated that quick decisions are not just a privilege of a profession, but that men in high offices have trained themselves to obey their good impulses, thus making it easy to make correct decisions on the spur of the moment.

Other formal speakers on the program were Aubrey Grey speaking on "Effective Communications," and Ed Wheeler "Is A Handicap Physical or Mental?"

Also on the speaking program was Scott Albright with a beyond basic training talk entitled, "D.D. Day."

Visiting the club as a guest of the club president was Garn Nelson, attorney-at-law in this area.

The next regular meeting of the Club will be Tuesday, July 3, at the Fish Shanty in Waleria at 7 p.m.

Burglaries . . .

full admission of the theft, according to Ashton.

In another crime, John White, 55, of 705 E. 121st st., and Joe Burson, 31, of 357 E. 130th st., Los Angeles, were charged with grand theft for stealing 50 magnesium ingots valued at $550 total from the Dow Chemical co., 305 Crenshaw Blvd., last week.

Good Deed

A patrolman, who had just made his midnight check of nearby American Standard and Radiator company, noticed a parked car.

Thinking that someone needed help, he went over to the car. The two occupants ran off as the patrolman, Earl Dunwoody, approached.

Dunwoody contacted police who traced the car to White and Burson who were arrested while trying to sell a number of ingots which they had retrieved at 1212 Alameda st., for 10 cents a pound. Ingots are valued at from 40 cents a pound.

All ingots were recovered. The suspects have made a full admission.

A thief who stalked into a liquor store brandishing a 22 automatic and stating "this is it" made off with $250 over the weekend, Ashton said.

Hit for the second time in about a year was the Waleria liquor store, 24212 Hawthorne. The trio who held up the store previously is now serving time at San Quentin.

Four churches were burglarized last Wednesday night and a total of $800 in business machines stolen. Police are still searching for the burglars who broke into the First Methodist church; St. Andrew's Episcopal church; First Baptist church; and the Church of Christ.
